Terengganu aims to plant 3 million trees by 2025

DUNGUN: The Terengganu Forestry Department is targeting to plant up to three million trees by 2025 to ensure the success of the Greening Malaysia Programme: 100 Million Tree Planting Campaign 2020-2025.

Director Roslan Rani yesterday said the department planted 322,018 trees last year.

"The Covid-19 pandemic last year did not stop the department from carrying out programmes with other government departments and agencies, corporate companies, higher education institutions and communities.

"For 2022, we want to plant 600,000 trees annually to achieve the three million target by 2025.

"The department will provide guidance for the programmes with interested parties and supply saplings," he said after a gotong-royong held in conjunction with the state-level campaign here. Bernama
